Raasay employed at Tayinloan today, and Loch Ranza making her way back to Rothesay

20/01/09 We believe Isle of Cumbrae is now running the sailings from Tobermory to Kilchoan and that Raasay is now covering on the Tayinloan - Gigha run. She should be able to get in at Tayinloan due to her having conventional propellers rather than Voith units protruding out beneath the hull, as Loch Linnhe does.

Not as many disruptions today - the only one being that the Islay sailing this evening is running to Port Askaig instead of Port Ellen once more.

19/01/09 WESTERN ISLES:

15/01/09 After a quiet couple of days, the winds were back again today:

CLYDE:

Tarbert - Portavadie / Lochranza: Loch Tarbert was subject to disruption throughout the day on the Tarbert - Portavadie run. Her 1515/1545 run was cancelled but she did however manage a sailing at 1615.

Gourock - Dunoon: Jupiter was off service between 1415 and 1620 due to a very high tide.

Ardrossan - Brodick: Clansman made her fourth visit to Gouruock in three days with the 1640 ex Brodick.

WESTERN ISLES:

Barra - Eriskay: Loch Bhrusda had another enforced day off at the hands of the weather, with no sailings possible across the Sound of Barra.

Fionnphort - Iona & Tayinloan - Gigha: Iona and Gigha were once again cut off by the weather conditions preventing Loch Buie and Loch Linnhe, respectively, from sailing, however an attempt was made to get in at Tayinloan on the 1530 sailing, seaweed and sand permitting.

Islay services were operating to and from Port Askaig once more.

Oban - Lismore: With Loch Riddon on the scene in Oban, relieving for Eigg, it was her turn to become stormbound and Lismore again saw no sailings today.

Oban - Coll - Tiree: Lord of the Isles was unable to berth at Coll and returned straight to Oban. She will sail tomorrow, weather permitting to Barra via Coll and Tiree in a similar fashion to the summer Thursday sailings operated by Clansman.

Ullapool - Stornoway: Isle of Lewis became stormbound in Ullapool this morning and Loch Portain didn't sail at all. Hebrides was unusually also off for the whole day again.

14/01/09 Loch Riddon is confirmed as being in service on the Oban - Lismore route, as can be seen in these pictures below

Loch Riddon in action on the Lismore run

12/01/09 Isle of Cumbrae left Rosneath today and after calling at Gourock began to make her way out to Oban. She is off to relieve the Eigg which is suffering technical problems and has been off the Lismore run for the last couple of days. Loch Riddon arrived in Oban this afternoon and took over the Lismore roster from 1400 and will continue until Isle of Cumbrae arrives on Wednesday.

The Oban - Craignure service was disrupted this afternoon. Lord of the Isles was unable to perform the 1600 ex Oban due to her relief sailing to Barra and back. She did call at Craignure on the way in to collect traffic for the 1700 sailing, while Isle of Mull carried out a delayed 1600 sailing from Oban at 1700, after her return from Colonsay.

11/01/09 Much the same today with more bad weather - here goes:

CLYDE:

Ardrossan - Brodick: Clansman's 1105 ex Brodick (she had berthed there overnight so the 0945 ex Ardrossan was off) was diverted to Gourock again today. As with yesterday, the 1640 also went northwards on departure from Brodick.

Tarbert - Lochranza: The sailing also didn't go today, with Loch Tarbert coming off duty at 1010.

Wemyss Bay - Rothesay: Following on from yesterday, the Polish twins were again sailing to and from Gourock throughout today.

Gourock - Dunoon: The 0920 ex Gourock sailed to Dunoon for passengers only and the service was then suspended until 1520.

Largs to Cumbrae sailings were again on and off through the day, however the planned vessel switch did take place, with Loch Alainn leaving Rothesay and making her way over to Largs to relieve Loch Shira, which in turn made for Gourock.

A rough day on the Clyde!

WESTERN ISLES:

Barra - Eriskay: Another easy day for Loch Bhrusda, as she she remained tied up at Ardmhor all day.

Oban - Barra - South Uist: Lord of the Isles missed her Outer Isles sailing this afternoon. A decision was due at 1300 regarding the next sailing. This will in fact be tomorrow morning at 0600 when she will sail for Barra only.

Oban - Lismore: There were no sailings at all on the Iona, Lismore and Gigha crossings. Lismore was again falling foul of Eigg's technical issues.

Lochaline - Fishnish: Loch Fyne was unusually off this morning, though she did manage to carry out her 1600 sailing.

Uig - Tarbert - Lochaddy: Hebrides was off all day, as was Loch Portain on the Berneray - Leverburgh run.

10/01/09 More rough weather arrived on the scene today...well it is January after all!

CLYDE:

Ardrossan - Brodick: Caledonian Isles was running approximately half an hour late with the 0945 ex Ardrossan. After arriving at Brodick she then loaded up and diverted her delayed 1105 sailing to Gourock, returning at 1420 from the more sheltered pier. The 1640 ex Brodick was also diverted to Gourock, though by this time Clansman had arrived to relieve the regular vessel. Caledonian Isles then followed her relief upriver and made for JWD.

Tarbert - Lochranza: Loch Tarbert didn't venture out to Lochranza today due to the weather.

Wemyss Bay - Rothesay: Argyle and Bute were diverted to Gourock today, the last sailing from the mainland being at 1715.

Gourock - Dunoon: Jupiter was stormbound at Gourock at various points throughout the day.

Largs - Cumbrae Slip: Loch Shira was subject to disruptions throughout the day, sometimes managing to sail, sometimes not.

WESTERN ISLES:

Barra - Eriskay: Loch Bhrusda didn't sail on her first three rostered departures today - we are not sure if the 1710 sailed or not.

Oban - Coll - Tiree: Lord of the Isles didn't sail this morning, though weather permitting there should be a sailing tomorrow at 0600.

Uig - Tarbert / Lochmaddy: Hebrides was off until early afternoon, taking a delayed sailing from Lochmaddy at 1400 to Uig, via Tarbert.

Fionnphort - Iona: Loch Buie was welcomed back to her home station by being stormbound all day.

Kennacraig - Islay: Islay services were diverted once again to Port Askaig.

Ullapool - Stornoway: Isle of Lewis missed her morning run to Ullapool, with a review to take place at 1300 regarding the afternoon sailing. She did indeed sail in the afternoon, with an intended departure time of 1430 from Stornoway.

Oban to Lismore: Sailings were off today, but this was not due to the weather - Eigg instead deciding to develop technical problems.

Berneray - Leverburgh: Loch Portain's reason for missing her sailings was entirely down to the weather though and she didn't leave Otternish all day.

Sconser - Raasay: Loch Striven initially had her sailings cancelled from 0845 onwards, however a moderation in conditions led to an attempted sailing at 1530 to Sconser and back - the only sailing of the day.

Mallaig - Small Isle & Armadale: Lochnevis didn't leave Mallaig today, again due to the weather.

09/01/09 Rough weather in the Western Isles led to Loch Bhrusda's last sailing from Ardmhor to Eriskay being brought forward from 1710 to 1515.

Elsewhere, Loch Buie left Port Askaig this morning and returned to Fionnphort where she relieved Loch Riddon and took over the temporarily restricted Iona service. Loch Riddon then made her way round the north end of Mull and berthed at Tobermory.

08/01/09 Loch Buie left Campbeltown this morning and made it as far as Port Askaig, where she has tied up for the night.

Loch Dunvegan was off service again for a while today with water pump problems. Zak observed a white van on her car deck and a lot of hammering coming from onboard, indicating that work was in progress, while Loch Alainn tended to the Colintraive - Rhubodach service.

Loch Buie alongside on Islay

07/01/09 Loch Buie left Rosneath this morning as she starts her return journey to Iona. We believe part of the reason for her extended stay on the Clyde is due to the large vehicles being carried over to Iona to work on the slipway, which Loch Riddon's lack of car deck height restriction is better suited to carry. She is staying tonight at Campbeltown.

Jupiter missed several sailings this afternoon. Ali Cat was called in to take the 1420 sailing to Dunoon and back for passengers only, and Jupiter was then back on service from 1520.

05/01/09 Services on the Fionnphort - Iona crossing are restricted again until further notice due to ongoing slipway repairs. Loch Riddon will depart Fionnphort at 0845, 1215, 1445 and 1800, returning from Iona 15 minutes later. These are once again in addition to the request sailings earlier in the morning.

04/01/09 Loch Ranza moved round from the wires at Gourock and took her place at Ardmaleish today. She had to head up to Gourock a few days ago because there was no space at Rothesay; the inner berth being taken by Loch Alainn, which is in turn waiting for Loch Shira to go for her own overhaul in a few days' time.

03/01/09 Lord of the Isles spent today playing musical berths. Having spent last night at Oban's No1 berth, she had to move to No2 at 0720 so that Isle of Mull could get in. Later in the day she had to cross to Craignure to allow both Clansman and Isle of Mull in at Oban for the afternoon. The south berth at Craignure was unavailable, being taken by HM Customs vessel Seeker. Lord of the Isles then had to vacate the linkspan again at 1630 so that Isle of Mull could get in once more.

Pictures from the SoC trip to Mull today, Isle of Mull, Loch Riddon and Raasay in service

Sailings from Oban (Wednesday) until further notice will be: 1530 Oban-Colonsay 1800 Colonsay-Port Askaig 1915 Port Askaig - Colonsay 2030 Colonsay – Oban.

Claonaig – Lochranza: Due to a technical problem, the 10:45hr departure from Lochranza and the 11:20hr departure from Claonaig have both been cancelled.

Fionnphort – Lochranza: Disrupted due to adverse weather, running a restricted service until further notice.

Berneray – Leverburgh: Disrupted due to tidal conditions.

04/04/09 Eigg resumed the Lismore roster today from Raasay. After a brief call at Gourock, Loch Bhrusda arrived at Roseneath from Lochranza for layup.

Fionnphort – Iona: Suspended due to technical problems.

03/04/09 Isle of Arran entered Dry Dock this morning to begin repairs on her damaged hull. Loch Bhrusda moved to Lochranza. Loch Riddon arrived on the Clyde today, after a brief call at Largs to unload crew cars, she moved to Fairlie due to pier works at Largs.

02/04/09 Eigg returned to Oban this evening after completing her recent overhaul at Corpach. Loch Bhrusda left Craignure for Port Askaig. Pentalina~B began a twice daily roster to Port Askaig from Kennacraig, mainly carrying freight due to her restricted capacity.

01/04/09 After being laid up in Tobermory for the past 2 weeks, Loch Riddon moved to Oban today. Pentalina~B arrived at Kennacraig today to begin a 4 week cover on the Islay route for the Isle of Arran.

DATE	NEWS

31/05/09 Well this weekend has seen the Oban fleet (and indeed half of the Islay fleet) sailing all over the place. Isle of Arran was put straight into service when she got to Oban last night, or rather this morning, and she left at 0225 on an emergency sailing to Castlebay, which hadn't seen a ferry since Lord of the Isles left on Friday morning. She then took the scheduled 0920 sailing to Oban, though was late in due to her slower speed. While all this was going on, Lord of the Isles was lying overnight at Lochboisdale, having arrived at 0035. She then left South Uist at 0730 and made Oban at 1245. She wasn't there long though and she picked up her regular Sunday sailing to Coll and Tiree, leaving at 1330. Isle of Arran was therefore required to take the 1730 sailing to Colonsay. Isle of Mull, after arriving back in Oban shortly after midnight, was able to leave the others to their fun and games, picking up her regular schedule with the 0950 for Craignure.

The cause of all the unusual sailings, Clansman, was finally repaired this morning and undertook successful sea trials before resuming her regular duties with the 1540 sailing to Castlebay and Lochboisdale. Isle of Arran is spending tonight at Oban and will return south tomorrow to join Hebridean Isles, which has been maintaining a one-ship service to Islay.

Elsewhere, the service to Cumbrae has now become the full 15-minute interval timetable and Loch Riddon is once again employed.

30/05/09 Clansman's repairs turned out to be unsuccessful and she has moved to Oban's Lighthouse Pier for further attention. Last night, Lord of the Isles did the delayed Oban – Tiree – Coll – Oban sailing and returned to her home port at 0645. Her 0815 sailing to Lochboisdale had to be put back to allow for some ingenious vessel switching to take place...more on that in a minute!

Isle of Mull picked up her own roster with the 0830 ex Craignure and sailed as normal until 1330. Lord of the Isles then stepped in and took the remaining Mull sailings, though the 1800 and 2000 sailings to Craignure, and the 1900 to Oban were cancelled. Lord of the Isles then took her South Uist sailing, albeit nearly 12 hours late. Isle of Mull had come off her own roster in order to take a 1515 sailing to Coll and Tiree, calling at Coll on both directions. She will return to Oban at around midnight tonight. With both vessels engaged in relief work, traffic returning from Craignure had to be diverted to Fishnish where Loch Fyne was waiting. Even the Waverley stepped in and rescued some passengers stranded at Tobermory and returned them to Oban!

Things don't end there either...for Isle of Arran has been summoned north from Islay and is expected to arrive in Oban in the early hours.

29/05/09 Clansman suffered a main engine failure on her morning run from Oban to Coll and Tiree and had to turn back without calling at either pier. She reached Oban around noon after returning down the Sound of Mull at a leisurely 10 knots. An extra sailing is running tonight at 2220, using Lord of the Isles after her return from Colonsay. Isle of Mull is taking the 2230 sailing to Craignure, though tomorrow morning's 0730 to Mull will be cancelled as a result.

Further north, Hebrides was held at Uig by an hour while she waited for traffic coming up from Oban.

Jupiter left the James Watt Dock at 1040 and, after sea trials following her annual overhaul, she berthed at the top wires at Gourock at 1230.

Loch Riddon has returned to being standby vessel at Largs following her big sister's return to service.

28/05/09 As Loch Shira has once again been repaired, Loch Bhrusda finished her service on the Largs-Cumbræ route at 1440 and returned to Gourock to lie.

27/05/09 Loch Ranza was out of service between 1030 and noon today as she could not berth at the Tayinloan slipway because of an obstruction.

26/05/09 Hebridean Isles, duly repaired, left Kennacraig at 1550 for Port Ellen; she took up her roster again with the inward sailing at 1800.

25/05/09 Loch Shira is once again dogged by technical woes and has spent the day at Fairlie awaiting repairs. Loch Riddon went onto the main roster while Loch Bhrusda left Rosneath for Largs at 1215 and sailed at the hour and half past from Largs, as the smaller Loch does not have the necessary capacity to run by herself. With Loch Shira being repaired at Fairlie, and Loch Riddon also berthing there overnight due to the construction work at Largs, Loch Bhrusda will have to make for Gourock each evening.

Hebridean Isles also suffered problems once again and came off her roster at Kennacraig at 1825 (for 1735). Isle of Arran was diverted to take the evening run from Kennacraig.

Isle of Lewis too suffered technical problems and was only able to leave Stornoway at 1545.

24/05/09 Loch Buie was off service for repairs between 1230 and 1400.

23/05/09 Loch Shira had to cancel her 1945 run from Largs because of a broken down coach.

21/05/09 Loch Bhrusda left Gourock at 1050 for Rosneath to return to her spare role, while Loch Shira returned to the Largs-Cumbræ Slip service, with Loch Riddon once again becoming the second vessel.

20/05/09 Following repairs at Gourock, Loch Shira, left at 1615 and sailed direct for Fairlie. Loch Bhrusda returned to Gourock after her day's work, arriving at 1915.

19/05/09 Loch Riddon was put on the main roster from today in Loch Shira's absence, backed up by Loch Bhrusda sailing on the hour and half hour from Largs in order to maintain the two ship timetable.

18/05/09 Loch Shira suffered technical problems and had to move to Gourock this evening for repairs. Loch Bhrusda meanwhile left Rosneath at 1230 and, after a call at Gourock at 1300, made for Fairlie for an overnight berth before entering service tomorrow.

17/05/09 Several extra Sunday sailings have commenced from today as the timetable is stepped up into high season mode:

Hebrides now gives two double runs from Uig to Lochmaddy. This means she sails from Tarbert to Uig on a Saturday night and returns early on Monday morning.

Isle of Mull now carries out an additional 1800 ex Oban and 1900 return from Craignure.

Loch Portain now gives a third Sunday sailing across the Sound of Harris, leaving Berneray at 1300 and back from Leverburgh at 1410.

16/05/09 Hebridean Isles diverted to Port Askaig on the 1800 ex Kennacraig, following the usual trend when bad weather prevails!

Down on the Clyde meanwhile, Jupiter moved from the Garvel Drydock to the James Watt Dock to have the final bits and pieces of her annual overhaul carried out.

15/05/09 Ali Cat did not venture forth from James Watt Dock this afternoon. She missed her single round trip to Dunoon on account of the weather.

12/05/09 Caledonian Isles was called to assist in an emergency while on her 1920 sailing from Brodick. A jet skier was in trouble and the ferry responded to an emergency call at the request of the MCA. She eventually reached Ardrossan at 2055.

08/05/09 Ongoing issues with the elements caused further disruption today. Arran was once again affected with the Lochranza service off until 1315. Loch Tarbert had actually sailed at 0820, however conditions at Claonaig prevented her from getting onto the slipway. Caledonian Isles of course started the day at Brodick, having cancelled the 0700 from Ardrossan.

Muirneag was able to sail with freight traffic at 1030 this morning. This was last night's sailing postponed by approximately ten hours.

Lochnevis was unable to call at Muck this morning due to conditions at the harbour entrance.

Clansman had her 1340 round trip from Oban to Barra extended by two hours to incorporate a call at Lochboisdale on the return leg.

Hebridean Isles returned to service today, having received attention to her bow thruster. Isle of Arran left Port Askaig at the unearthly time of 0415 to cross to Kennacraig in time to commence her own roster with the 0900 to Port Ellen.

07/05/09 Normally May is a quiet and calm month in Scottish waters... Not this year it seems!

Ali Cat was off after her first run, returning to James Watt Dock after unloading at Gourock at 0745.

Further down-river, Argyle was diverted twice to Gourock during the course of the day as Wemyss Bay proved inaccessible in the swell. Bute also had to use Gourock for part of the day when she eventually got started. Her first sailing was cancelled as a rope was caught around one of azi-pods.

Caledonian Isles didn't escape the conditions either. She is berthed overnight at Brodick, having cancelled her 1920 to Ardrossan. The other Arran service was subject to disruption as well, with Loch Tarbert finishing for the day at 1820.

Another Clyde Loch was spotted making a dash for cover; Loch Riddon was forced to move from Fairlie to Gourock for shelter, as the Fairlie berth was a tad exposed.

In the Hebrides meanwhile, the Outer Isles run from Oban was generally OK, however Clansman did finish an hour late, having been held up along the way by the elements. Further north however, Hebrides didn't fare so well. She only managed to sail at 1125 from Lochmaddy to Uig and back and then at 1715 to Tarbert. The most northern route across the Minch also suffered, with Isle of Lewis managing only one sailing, departing Stornoway at 1245 and returning from Ullapool at 1725. Perhaps unsurprisingly Muirneag had her overnight freight sailing postponed.

There were no sailings from Mallaig today, with both resident vessels being stormbound.

The smaller members of the fleet were out in to too. Loch Alainn was only to be found on one sailing today, at 1200 from Ardmhor and 1300 from Eriskay. Loch Buie too was only in service from 1205 until 1725; spending the rest of the day in the Bull Hole.

In other news, not connected to the weather, Hebridean Isles was off service for repairs while Isle of Arran was on a single ship roster to Islay.

06/05/09 Ali Cat went off service after her first run due to the weather.

05/05/09 Jupiter moved from Gourock to the Garvel Drydock, arriving at 0800.

04/05/09 Ali Cat's 0750 run from Gourock was cancelled this morning.

03/05/09 Saturn took over as the Gourock – Dunoon ferry this morning, having replaced Jupiter at 1020, the latter moving to the top wires.

01/05/09 The start of May and cue the bad weather! It caused Loch Tarbert to miss her 0930 and 1045 Lochranza-Claonaig sailings and Loch Portain to sail first at 1030 between Berneray and Leverburgh. Isle of Lewis finished an hour and a half late on the Stornoway-Ullapool route because of increased traffic. This was all because Muirneag was unable to sail for technical reasons. Saturn emerged from her long hibernation in the company of Juno and crossed from Rosneath to Gourock today. This is in readiness for her relieving Jupiter on the Dunoon crossing in a couple of days time.

29/06/09	Argyle was off service this morning due to technical problems and it wasn't until 1300 that she was able to return to service. Bute was able to cope on her own on a one-ship roster.

28/06/09 Lochnevis went off on another jaunt to the Outer Hebrides today - her second within a few weeks. She set sail from Mallaig on the early side of 0700, reaching Castlebay around 1200; her first ever visit to Barra. She landed her long stern ramp at the linkspan and loaded passengers on a special charter sailing. The Barra Heritage Society had arranged a special non-landing sailing from Castlebay to Mingulay, further south in the archipelago. Incidentally this was the first time a CalMac ferry has ventured into those waters since the Columba went there in 1980 as part of her St Kilda trip. The Small Isles ferry returned to Barra in glorious weather and then left at 1745 for the return sailing to Mallaig.

27/06/09 It was Clansman's turn to suffer technical problems today. She wasn't able to leave Oban on her Coll - Tiree sailing until 0820. She was unable to make up time during her trip to the Inner Isles and as a result, the 1540 sailing to Barra was delayed until 1650.

25/06/09 A missing swimmer, or rather the search for him or her, was the reason for Loch Buie abandoning her Iona sailings for around an hour from 1315. Fortunately the swimmer was found safely. Tides again saw Loch Portain delaying her 1445 sailing, this time putting it back to 1600.

24/06/09 Loch Portain was subject to tidal disruption this afternoon, with her 1445 sailing being delayed until 1540.

21/06/09 Traffic sailing to and from Raasay today enjoyed the opportunity to revisit the days of old when reversing on or off the ferry was necessary. Loch Striven was sailing single-ended due to one of her ramps giving trouble.

19/06/09 There were more disruptions on the Clyde today. Saturn again missed her first run of the day, and Loch Tarbert missed more sailings on the Lochranza - Claonaig run. This time she was fully functioning and was responding to an emergency call, in conjunction with the coastguard.

Isle of Cumbrae saw her second spell off the Portavadie run within a relatively short space of time. The reason was to do with technical issues.

Up in Oban, Eigg returned to service on her regular route, allowing Raasay to resume her life at the lay-up berth.

18/06/09 Weather conditions caused Lochnevis to miss her scheduled call at Muck today. Similarly, Coruisk saw her last sailing to Armadale fall by the wayside.

Things were also in the hands of the weather on the Clyde where Saturn was unable to carry out her 0715 round trip from Brodick; starting her day's work instead at 1025. Loch Tarbert was also disrupted again today, though this time it had nothing to do with the elements. No, this time ramp issues were to blame for the vessel lying at Lochranza between 1035 and 1315. Incidentally she also missed her last run for the same reason!

17/06/09 Eigg was able to leave the Sound of Islay this morning, following the return of the Jura ferry from Ardmaleish on Bute. Eigg sailed via the Sound of Jura back to Oban, arriving at around 1600. Meanwhile, down on the Clyde the weather was making its presence known, forcing Saturn out of service after her arrival at Brodick at 1540. Just around the Arran coastline, Loch Tarbert had been unable to land her ramp on the slip at Claonaig on her first sailing and had to return to Lochranza where she was then stormbound. She returned to service at 1315.

12/06/09 The supplementary Arran sailings began this morning with the 0715 ex Brodick. Saturn's roster sees her leaving Brodick at 0715, 1025, 1445 and 1740, and then Ardrossan at 0900, 1315, 1615 and 1845 on weekdays and then on a more limited roster at weekends. Loch Bhrusda had to cover the Cumbrae run on her own for a while today following Loch Riddon succumbing to ramp problems between 0845 and 1215. With Loch Shira returning back downriver ready to resume service this evening, Loch Bhrusda was able to return to Gourock after her roster finished. She will now lie spare until she is next required. Loch Shira will return to service on the main Cumbrae roster tomorrow morning, with Loch Riddon resuming on the 2nd roster.

11/06/09 Saturn prepared to return to her summer role as 2nd Arran ferry today and repositioned from Gourock. This year, for the first time, and thanks to the suggestion of the Clyde River Steamer Club, the public were offered the opportunity to travel from Gourock to Brodick on the Streaker and then back to Ardrossan on the Caledonian isles. The special sailing left Gourock at 1200 and proceeded via the Cowal shore, Largs Channel, Wee Cumbrae, Garroch Head and the Sannox coastline before arriving at Brodick at 1440. Passengers were disembarked and the ferry then left for berthing trials at Ardrossan before returning to Brodick this evening, ready to commence service tomorrow.

08/06/09 Eigg is now the Jura ferry and will remain so until the Eilean Dhuira is able to return to service. She is currently at Ardmaleish receiving repairs.

07/06/09 CLYDE:

Loch Shira has moved up to Gourock for the necessary repairs, leaving Loch Riddon on the main Cumbrae roster once again. Loch Bhrusda, as predicted, returned to the 2nd roster until such time as Loch shira is fixed.

WESTERN ISLES:

Following a breakdown of the Jura ferry Eilean Dhuira a few days ago, compounded by the fact that the preferred relief vessel Margaret Sinclair was required elsewhere, Eigg came off the Oban - Lismore service this morning and made for the Sound of Islay. She has been chartered by ASP Ship Management to operate the Port Askaig - Feolin service. Raasay is now in charge of the Lismore service in the 'Tall One's' absence.

Up in Mallaig, summer has reached the Armadale service. The additional Sunday sailings (1240 and 1440 ex Mallaig) are now operating.

06/06/09 Loch Riddon returned to the secondary Largs - Cumbrae roster (i.e. from Largs at xx00 and xx30) but discovered that from 1600 she was on her own; Loch Shira having developed a further fault which means she has had to return to Fairlie for further attention. With only Loch Riddon on the Cumbrae service it is perhaps inevitable that Loch Bhrusda will soon be back at Largs...

Full high summer service arrived today on the Bute service, with the 2110 ex Rothesay and 2200 ex Wemyss Bay being operated for the first time this year. Similarly Loch Striven has run her first 2100 ex Raasay and 2130 ex Sconser of 2009.

05/06/09 After a few days off, Isle of Cumbrae has been repaired and she is now back in service, having left Gourock at 0745, resuming the Tarbert - Portavadie run from 1145. Loch Riddon then got underway and returned to Largs to take over the main Cumbrae roster from 1445. This then allowed Loch Bhrusda to head for Gourock and an overnight berth.

02/06/09 Most unusually it was the turn of Isle of Cumbrae to be forced off duty today. The 33 year old vessel developed problems with one of her ramps and had to make for Gourock. She was spotted (by Zak!) passing Rothesay in the process. Another vessel switching session was called for and Loch Bhrusda was more set sail for Largs to cover for the Loch Riddon which was in turn dispatched to Tarbert to take over the Portavadie service.

Out west it was the fog that was causing problems, in particular for Loch Portain. She was delayed during the morning and indeed was unable to berth at all at Leverburgh on her first sailing of the day.

01/06/09 Normality returned to Oban as Isle of Arran slipped out of the bay at 0630, making her way back to Islay. She called at Port Askaig to collect inbound traffic and sailed from there at 1000. Hebridean Isles was simultaneously sailing from Port Ellen, having left at 0945, and the two ships followed one another up West Loch Tarbert to arrive at Kennacraig minutes apart.

Saturn was duly relieved as Dunoon ferry from 1020 this morning by the freshly overhauled Jupiter. The younger vessel moved to the Wires where she will lie until her time comes to sail for Arran.

Loch Bhrusda was again called into action today, covering this time for Loch Riddon which was off duty with ramp problems for 5 hours. The larger (and louder) vessel returned to Gourock this evening.

31/07/09	Jupiter again saw disruptions this morning and it was 1020 before she was able to start her day. Prior to this the Ali Cat carried out the timetable on a passenger only basis at 0920, after completing her own runs that is. Saturn missed her last sailing of the day and Loch Tarbert was unable to get in at Claonaig on her 1430 ex Lochranza. She then returned to service at 1715.

29/07/09	Jupiter was off service at Dunoon between 1350 and 1440 due to a technical problem, while earlier in the morning Saturn commenced her sailings with the 0900 ex Ardrossan.

27/07/09	More foul weather today and Saturn was again off following her 0715 ex Brodick. She returned to Arran with a 1730 sailing from Ardrossan. Elsewhere Lochnevis was unable to get in at Muck on her second run of the day.
----------	---

- 26/07/09 Heavy weather made Loch Tarbert fall foul this morning. She was only able to sail on the 1045 ex Lochranza and after returning to Arran it was 1430 before she was to sail again. Saturn also suffered and she only managed to sail at 1615.
Loch Riddon's ramp was repaired and fully operational by 1000 this morning and she was able to return to full drive-through working.
- 25/07/09 Isle of Cumbrae was repaired and returned to service and Loch Riddon then came off duty for ramp repairs this afternoon. She too returned to service from 1945 but was sailing single ended.
- 24/07/09 Well, after a week or so of fun and games, life returned to normal with a few mere technical related issues to report. Saturn missed her 1615 sailing, while Isle of Cumbrae came off the Portavadie run at 1310.
- 23/07/09 Lord of the Isles returned to service with the 1540 sailing to the Outer Isles this afternoon, albeit with her carpets ripped up in the cafeteria. Hebridean Isles left Oban to return south and then carried out the 1800 sailing to Kennacraig, but from Port Askaig.
Over the next few days there will be some disruptions on the Sound of Harris route due to low tides. See the Official CalMac website for full details.
- 22/07/09 Following the inward sailing from Castlebay and Lochboisdale this morning, Hebridean Isles carried out an extra sailing to Colonsay and Port Askaig (as used to happen in the spring and autumn timetables of years gone by). She left Oban at 1530 and left Islay on the return sailing at 1915.
- 21/07/09 Isle of Mull arrived back in Oban at 0400, having sailed through the night on the Coll - Tiree run. Unfortunately she was too late back to avoid missing her morning Mull runs, so Hebridean Isles stepped in and carried out the 0745 and 0950 round trips to Craignure. Isle of Mull resumed her roster with the 1155 ex Oban which in turn allowed Hebridean Isles to venture even further outwith her usual sphere of operations by taking the 1540 sailing to Lochboisdale and Castlebay. Lord of the Isles was able to return to Oban this afternoon to allow repairs to continue.
Isle of Arran once again carried out an additional sailing back to Kennacraig this evening, leaving Port Askaig at 2030. While the single ship roster is in operation, the vessel is based at Kennacraig overnight in order to carry out the main roster, with departures at 0700, 1300 and 1800.
- 20/07/09 What an eventful summer this is turning out to be... With Lord of the Isles unserviceable in Oban, thanks to her sprinkler system deciding to discharge its load all over the cafeteria, more vessel switching has been taking place to cover all routes. Her inward sailing from Coll and Tiree was carried out by Clansman, on her way in from Lochboisdale and Barra, while traffic on the morning sailing to Coll and Tiree was taken, somewhat late, by Isle of Mull at 2025 after she had completed her own Mull sailings.
Islay again drew the short straw today following the return of Isle of Arran yesterday. Hebridean Isles left this evening and made for Colonsay with traffic diverted via Kennacraig and then carried the regular inward sailing to Oban, albeit late. Lord of the Isles had to leave Oban at 1710 in order to free up an overnight berth and made for Craignure where she berthed on the south side of the pier.
- 19/07/09 Isle of Lewis returned to Stornoway following her additional 0130 sailing from Ullapool and then left again at 1430 to a rapturous send-off as she carried out the first ever timetabled Sunday sailing out of Stornoway. As expected, there were a number of protesters who wished to see the enforced prohibition of travel to one and all, but the mood at the pier was one of relief as the Isle of Lewis backed away with a blast on her horn.
Isle of Arran meanwhile finally got back to Stornoway at around 0300 this morning, unloaded traffic and then set sail light for Port Askaig, arriving at 1640.
Following her trip to Port Askaig last night, Lord of the Isles got back into Oban at 0200 this morning. She was then in service throughout the course of the day, sailing to Coll and Tiree and then to Colonsay and back, but this evening a fault in her sprinkler system led to the cafeteria being flooded. She is consequently out of service.

18/07/09 Isle of Arran reached Stornoway at 0815 and then carried out two return sailings to Ullapool, leaving at 1130 and 2135, returning at 1530 and 0030. Isle of Lewis was repaired and returned to service at 2200 with another additional sailing, following her relief vessel across the Minch. Hebrides also carried out an additional sailing between Uig and Tarbert during the evening in order to clear traffic and eventually finished over 2 hours late.

With Isle of Arran away from home, Islay traffic was building up to the point where Lord of the Isles was called upon to provide an emergency sailing from Oban to Port Askaig at 1900. Hebridean Isles diverted her 1800 sailing to Port Askaig in order to provide a return sailing at 2110 (and also clear the linkspan to allow the Oban ferry to offload her traffic).

17/07/09 It turns out that the ramp related technical problems seen in the last couple of days were just the tip of the iceberg (forgive the rather unfortunate cliché). While on her 1025 sailing from Ullapool to Stornoway this morning, Isle of Lewis suffered a major breakdown in one of her engines. She completed the crossing at a reduced speed, arriving a mere 5 minutes before her scheduled second departure time, at 1345. Traffic was unloaded and the ferry remained in port for the rest of the day.

Given the recent announcement of the long-overdue start of Sunday sailings, the breakdown prompted the traditionalists of Lewis to claim divine intervention... Sweeping that aside, vessels were redeployed and provided additional sailings to ensure that all the traffic got to its destination. Hebrides provided additional sailings from Uig to Tarbert through the night and further south, Isle of Arran was taken off the Islay run at 2025 in order to go north.

Elsewhere, Jupiter's starboard ramp was fixed while on Bute, the Rothesay gangway broke down and led to delays for Argyle and Bute.

16/07/09 More ramp trouble beset another vessel today. This time the victim was Hebridean Isles and she finally finished just over an hour late.

15/07/09 Following the yacht rescue yesterday off Tiree, it was Saturn's turn to act Thunderbird 1 today, responding to another yacht in trouble. This one took place during her 1615 sailing to Brodick.

Further up the Clyde, a rare sight was noted at Dunoon today; a failure on Jupiter's starboard side ramp saw the oldest vessel in the fleet berthing at Dunoon the wrong way round in order to land her seldom-used port side ramp.

14/07/09 Clansman was called to assist a yacht in distress today. As a result she was 35 minutes late leaving Tiree.

13/07/09 Hebrides was delayed on her 0940 sailing from Uig by a rope around one of her propellers. She eventually got away at about 1100 and then proceeded to run late for the rest of the day.

12/07/09 It may be July, supposedly the middle of summer for crying out loud, but heavy weather returned to the north today. Saturn was the only casualty of the day with her morning Arran runs being cancelled. Her traffic was able to be accommodated on the Caledonian Isles which suffered no such disruptions.

04/07/09 Following the replacement of her liferaft, Loch Riddon was back up to her full passenger complement today.

03/07/09 Heavy traffic was the order of the day today, with many of the larger vessels running over an hour late by this evening. Isle of Mull, Clansman, Hebrides and Isle of Lewis were noted examples!

02/07/09 Loch Riddon was back in service today, albeit with a reduced passenger capacity. It turns out the problem was with a liferaft in the end. A few miles north, technical problems also saw the Ali Cat miss her 0750 sailing to Dunoon and back.

Loch Striven was again off for a while this morning, but the service to Raasay was back on later in the day.

01/07/09 A new month and things got off to a great start, with Loch Striven suffering ramp problems on her 0755 sailing which was forced to return to Raasay until she was able to resume the service at 0955.

Elsewhere, Loch Riddon was forced off service on completion of her 1545 sailing from Cumbrae Slip, leaving her larger consort to run the service to Cumbrae by herself. As luck (or rather misfortune) would have it, Loch Shira was also off between 1615 and 1715 so Cumbrae was not with a ferry service between those hours.

Further north however, heavy traffic was the cause of delays, with the Isle of Lewis completing the third of her sailings over an hour late.
